After-School Program Survey Results

★ 95% of families said they would like their child to return next year. ★

Homework Help

When asked what part of the program was most helpful to their student, 32% of parents said homework help. Overall, the majority of parents were very satisfied with the homework assistance their child received.

Academics

When asked about the academic support their student received, one parent responded, “The additional academic exposure gave him the tools and resources to continue learning each day. Freedom City contributed to his growth by eliminating idle time he would have otherwise used for brain rot/tv between the gap of school and me getting off work to pick him up.”

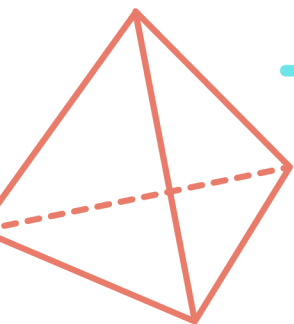

Extracurriculars and Career Exposure

We incorporate extracurricular activities and exposure to diverse career paths in our program. When parents were asked how satisfied they were with these activities, the majority responded very satisfied.
